

Eva Holthe Enoksen | Edvard Munch videregående skole | Oslo | Norway

Climate change

Local solutions to global challenges

All over the world, the effects of climate change are felt. Yet, solutions to stop or mitigate these effects may seem small and inadequate. Through this project, students from Kyrgyzstan, Slovakia and Norway met at an online conference to share their research about local issues related to climate change and sustainable development. Seeing multiple local solutions showcased the different initiatives that exist and may thus empower students to believe that action against climate change is both possible and important.

Online conferences are a low-cost way of connecting students from different countries, sharing research and learning from each other. This is especially suited for sustainability and climate change, as it showcases local solutions and initiatives.